Staff members will distribute informative brochures on topics such as sports injuries, joint replacement and tips for maintaining a fit and healthy lifestyle at any age. They will also have giveaways, answer orthopedic questions, and provide the latest information on maintaining orthopedic health. "If, for instance, you're having hip or knee pain, our staff will give you valuable information at our booth," says Dr. Alan Nasar, Director of the Total Joint Center at CentraState and one of the orthopedic surgeons at Advanced Orthopedics and Sports Medicine Institute.

The Health Fair will focus on health issues and have exhibitors addressing senior health, fitness, and overall wellness. People of all ages are welcome to attend. The information covers diverse topics such as medical equipment and the importance of legal trusts.

Advanced Orthopedics and Sports Medicine Institute treats patients of all ages and will offer information to everyone visiting the booth. "I think anytime we can reach out to the community, educate them on medical advances and share our knowledge makes the day a success," says Dana Higley, marketing director of Advanced Orthopedics and Sports Medicine Institute.
